Permaculture Central Coast (PCC) is a not for profit organisation, run completely by volunteer community members who believe in education, community sharing, partnership, and who have a passion for a sustainable future.

About Permaculture Central Coast

Education, sharing and sustainability.

PCC holds public meetings on the third Tuesday of the month from February – November each year at Tuggerah Hall, Anzac Rd Tuggerah

Members help spread awareness about permaculture and sustainable issues

Meet like minded people and learn about organic gardening, recycling, and sustainability

Most members practice permaculture to some extent. Some members hold permaculture qualifications, whilst others are interested in learning more about permaculture and sharing, and are just starting out on the permaculture journey

Aim of Permaculture

'Permaculture aims to create systems that are ecologically sound and economically viable, which provide for their own needs, do not exploit or pollute, and are therefore sustainable in a long term'

Bill Mollison 1991

'Permaculture is about working with, rather than against nature'

Permaculture is a design system that integrates people and their surroundings in a way that creates a self-reliant lifestyle. It incorporates food production, ethical care of animals, the earth, plants and people in a way that serves to meet the needs of all. It is a system where nothing is wasted and all surplus is distributed in a manner that helps to create cooperation, coexistence and sustainability

Vicky Gear 2004

Aims of PCC

Promote permaculture as a sustainable solution to local environmental and social issues via education, and by sharing information, ideas and surplus
